Our Organisation

IPC (WA) Pty Ltd (IPC) is a West Australian company, originally established in Perth in 1989 as an independent information technology management and services company delivering information technology solutions and services including system integration, project management and information security to both government and commercial sectors.

IPC is an agile efficient organisation, overheads are low and fees are very competitive. Clients are guaranteed to receive value for money services from IPC.

IPC is registered supplier in the West Australian Government's ICT Services CUA.

Our Approach

IPC provides only highly skilled, mature and experienced IT consultants to ensure our clients enjoy a professional standard of service.

IPC takes responsibility, as principal, in any contractual arrangement for the consultants engaged. IPC has adopted a co-operative, "open-book" model for engagement with consultants. Each IPC consultant is an experienced professional who receives the major share of the fee and is therefore highly motivated to perform. IPC recovers only administrative costs and a small profit margin.

IPC is independent of any other service providers or suppliers of software or hardware. Clients can be assured that IPC will deliver tailored outcomes based on their business needs and with a focus on delivering real benefits.

Our Experience

IPC is an organisation with in-depth knowledge of local business and government sectors. While IPC is proud to be West Australian our consultants have experience in many Australian states and other countries including, India, USA, Canada, Dubai, Indonesia, Qatar, Singapore, South Africa, United Kingdom and Zambia.

IPC can provide resources of the same or better experience and skills than large international or interstate organisations but at a much lower cost.

Our Vision

IPC strives to be recognised as a valued business partner, working collaboratively with our clients to provide "industry-best" professional consultants and tailored outcomes and measurable benefits. IPC seeks to develop long-term relationships with clients based on openness, trust and mutual respect.

IPC has seen significant growth over the course of the company's history and our vision is for this growth to continue so that the company can contribute to the ongoing economic development of Western Australia through the information technology industry.
